LOOKING TO GET YOUR ORGANIZATION INVOLVED?

Our Community Partners are businesses and fellow non-profit organizations that we've teamed up with to assist transitioning and transitioned Rangers through avenues like finding employment, getting into grad school, navigating VA benefits, etc. These are groups that actively value Rangers and see their worth. Similarly, our Ranger-Friendly Careers are companies who go beyond saying they are "veteran-friendly" but actively want to hire veterans— and many specifically seek out former Rangers. Email info@threerangersfoundation.org to learn more!

BECOME A MENTOR

Mentorship is one of the most impactful ways we can assist our veterans. A TRF mentor is a veteran of the 75th Ranger Regiment who also has had other life experiences outside the military, with a willingness to help build connections, share experiences, and assist in setting realistic expectations. A mentor can provide the guidance similar to what you got from your 1st and 2nd line supervisors.

Mentors are from a variety of industries. Few transitioning veterans have a set career path upon leaving the military but do have a desire to find job satisfaction and worthwhile work similar to the life they had in Regiment.

Just like Regiment, this is an all-volunteer organization. Please complete the application form if you feel you can make a difference by serving as a mentor. You don’t need to have all of the answers - you need to be prepared to listen and have a genuine desire to make a difference.

Greetings, Everyone!

Pam and I left the snow and cold from Minnesota this late March. Again, to Oka-loosa Island, Fl to warm up a few weeks prior venturing to then Ft Benning and now Fort Moore, witnessing another successful Best Ranger Competition. For the last several years, we played in the Ranger Scholarship Tournament the Thursday, a day prior to the Best Ranger Competition. Check it out. Better yet, send a check.

Matt Walker and Bill Morgan co-hosted a sea of Rangers and guests generating scholarship money for Rangers and families. An outstanding event and we thank you two gentlemen!

Even if you don’t play golf often, this event is fun-filled; come join us next year.
Our contributions are well spent, for sure. On one hole, we had a driver-for hire hit off the tee box drilling the ball well over 300 yards. In the below picture, you can guess who the iron for hire is.

The 39th annual Best Ranger Competition Committee did an exceptional job this year, again. Thank you, Travis Pheanis, who is probably well-rested after an intense week of action. Fun! From my observation, the event was even more successful this year with better accessibility during the second day of events held on the riverfront of the Chattahoochee in Columbus, zip-line and all. Secondly, at the AJ McClung Stadium. Easy access and kudos to those making the event so enjoya-

Then followed the BRC, other events, including; The Critter Cookout and 5th RTB Open House in Dahlonega, and others. President Art Attaway has listed those within his article.

Roger Crunk, 75th RRA treasurer and K/75th Unit Director, will not have his quarterly financial report nor his K Company submission in this issue due to health conditions that we hope improve soon. He wanted everyone to know he’s not AWOL. We wish him a speedy recovery. Read on. RLTW!

Greetings Rangers,

This time from Greenville, SC. The next Rendezvous is almost upon us. Some of us are getting long in the tooth, old way of looking in a horse’s mouth to estimate it’s age. My wife and I are stateside for the celebration of fifty years of marriage. Tied the knot on June twelfth, 1973, in Waukesha, WI. While we live in Paraguay, we have all our family in the US, so rather than have them come to Paraguay we came North.

I have been considering the nature of life on Planet Earth. When I was a kid, the time passed so slowly. Seems like it was in slow gear. But when I went to war, it was even worse. Had a 1969-year calendar in my Sky Soldier plastic wallet that I would mark day by day until September or so. And after we walked into an NVA base camp and had our platoon shot up seemed that I lost interest in marking the days left on my first tour. Then took a short and went to the LRRPS. N/Co., then A/2/503rd. A few months later returned to Ft. Bragg, eighteen months older physically but years older mentally. Tired of life and still not twenty years of age.

Now I look back on a full life and wonder, where did all that time go? I was a gift placed onto my hands to use. Now I look in the mirror, an old man looks back at me. I used to turn the girls’ heads. Used to! Now just another old man creaking along. And yet when I read in the book of Job the thoughts of one of God’s greatest prophets which were recorded for us some four thousand years ago of the hope that he had to see God in a reconstituted body.

Job 19:23-27 “Oh, that my words were written! Oh, that they were inscribed in a book!

They were engraved on a rock with an iron pen and lead, forever!

For I know that my Redeemer lives, And He shall stand at last on the earth;

And after my skin is destroyed, this I know, that in my flesh I shall see God,

Whom I shall see for myself, and my eyes shall behold, and not another. How my heart yearns within me! NKJV

Notice that Job who had been deprived of wealth, health and family wanted his words recorded for the ages. And God granted that some indeed were. What did Job know? That his Redeemer lives, and that He would stand at last on the earth.

Now this was a couple of thousand years before Jesus came born of a virgin, fathered by the Holy Spirit of God. He lived an impeccable life among us for thirty-three years. Then had his life unjustly taken away. But HE came to give that life for the life of the world who did not know what they were doing, so he asked His heavenly father to forgive them as they hung him on the cross between two thieves who did deserve their punishment. Yet before he raised Lazarus, a man four days dead, Jesus said to the dead man’s sister Martha,

“John 11:25-26 Jesus said to her, “I am the resurrection and the life. He who believes in Me, though he may die, he shall live. And whoever lives and believes in Me shall never die. Do you believe this?”

Old Job believed in his Redeemer long ages before Martha and Lazarus were born. And he had the confidence that God would raise his body from the dust, and he would see God. Jesus was sent to save his people from their sins, and one of the consequences of sin is death. “The soul that sins it shall die.” But Jesus died the death due us. And whoever can be persuaded to believe the testimony that God gave through the Jewish prophets including Job will live again. The impact of our lives on earth is recorded. But three things are needful for a man to do.

Fear God, Creator of Heaven and Earth. And fearing him believe the testimony God gave concerning the necessity of trusting in Jesus, the Redeemer. That is the Work of Faith. The believing that gains a place for the sinner to be placed into the Savior and partake of His life.

Second, Love God and those who also love God, which is the brothers and sisters of God’s family because they also love the true and living One.

Third, wait for him with the same confidence that Job had. That he would see him in the flesh. Job looked forward to the coming of Christ, as we look back to the fact that he came first to live as a Jew, be subjected to all the Mosaic Law demanded, in order to redeem all who have not kept God’s Holy commands.

The Word became flesh and dwelt among us, in order that we might be made like the Angels of God, but with a new body as Jesus was raised with. May our hearts see with clarity what Job saw and be enabled to wait with patience for he who said that he will come again.

Hard Rock Charlie 3rd Annual Water Jump!

Hard Rock Charlie is a 501 c 3 non-profit formed by members of C Co, 1/75, and is dedicated to helping, healing, and providing brotherhood and gathering/sharing opportunities, as well as assistance with VA claims. On 6MAY23, 90 “old” Rangers exited the door of a C47 under MC1-1 chutes. The airplane was used on D-Day, in Market Garden, and flew 53 total missions. Jumppers included General (RET) David Grange, Chaplain “Chappie” 1/75, SF and Ranger Chris Corbin, a double amputee that also jumped his dog, Juliette (her first jump), 75th RRA president Art “Doc” Attaway, Duke Durkin, Steve Murphy, and many more... A great time was had by all! The oldest jumpers were 94 and 87 years of age. To view the jumps, go to the Hard Rock Charlie website, https://hardrockcharliefoundation.org/ and find the link.

Ranger Museum

The Ranger Museum at Camp Merrill was recently updated by supporter and historian Tom Walker. The museum is in one of the old “hooches” we stayed in during the Mountain Phase of Ranger School, the last one standing. Tom did a brilliant job capturing Ranger history, and checkout the Vietnam panels on our website, www.75thrra.org.

Ranger History Book Project

A hardback book documenting the history of the 75th Rangers and the Ranger Training Brigade is underway. Historian Tom Walker will be assisting the 75th RRA President, Doc Attaway, to compile this beautiful publication. The Publisher, Acclaim Publishing, has specialized in capturing unit history. Each Unit Director will be asked to produce biographies and pictures of unit members. Please participate! This will be a major publication formation in 1952. RLTW! To view the information on the book go to www.onpoint1-1.org and click on the link.

RHOF

We were very successful this year in managing our submittals to the very end, and 2 of 3 regular nominees, and one honorary nominee, will be inducted in June at Fort Moore (Benning). Marshall Huckabee, Richard D. James, and HON Chief Iberra. See the article covering this authored by Rick Barela, the RHOF Committee Chairman. Other members of the committee were 2nd VP Rick Merritt, who was put forward by the 75th Ranger Regiment as a nominee, and will also be a 2023 inductee, and Steve Johnson. The committee did a brilliant job and is greatly appreciated.

BRC

The Best Ranger Competition was held during April of 2023. The 75th Rangers had a great showing with numerous teams in the top 10, including #1. For pictures, results, and information go to www.bestrangercompetition.com.

National Ranger Memorial Foundation

Recently, the National Ranger Memorial Foundation, that created the “Ranger Monument” located on Fort Moore (formerly Benning) at Building 4, was instructed by the SEDDEF to remove all mention of Rangers that served for the Confederacy. This included Mosby! There is a major counter offensive in process and the NRMF Chairman, GEN (RET) Joe Stringham has taken point. See his correspondence on our website at www.75thrra.org. The monument has recently undergone a major restoration project, spearheaded by the non-profit, OnPoint 1-1. Purchases of a monument stone can be made at www.nationalrangerfoundation.com.

Base Name Changes

6 U.S Army Bases will change their names in 2023, due to the original name being linked to the Confederacy during the Civil War. Full details are available at https://www.military.com/daily-news/2023/03/24/heres-when-army-bases-honoring-confederacy-will-shed-their-old-names.html. A number of these will now honor Vietnam era leaders.
While Army bases are the most conspicuous examples, many installations have street names or buildings named after Confederates. The Navy will rename the cruiser USS Chancellorsville, which commemorates a Confederate victory, and the USNS Maury — named after a U.S. Navy officer who resigned his commission to fight for the Confederate Navy — will also be renamed. Battle streamers commemorating Confederate service will no longer be authorized.

Spotlight: Commemorating World War I

Some Army bases, established in the build-up and during World War I, were named for Confederate officers in an effort to court support from local populations in the South. That the men for whom the bases were named had taken up arms against the government they had sworn to defend was seen by some as a sign of reconciliation between the North and South. It was also the height of the Jim Crow Laws in the South, so there was no consideration for the feelings of African Americans who had to serve at bases named after men who fought to defend slavery. All this changed in the aftermath of the police killing of George Floyd in 2020. Many people protested systemic racism and pointed to Confederate statues and bases as part of that system. Congress established the commission in the National Defense Authorization Act of fiscal 2021. Then-President Donald J. Trump vetoed the legislation. Because of the presence of the commission, and huge bipartisan majorities in both houses of Congress overrode his veto. The commission issued its first report in May 2022, which addressed renaming Army bases. The commission finished their mission on Oct. 1, 2022 and there was a 90-day period for public comment. That has now expired and the renaming of the bases may proceed apace.

Spotlight: Commemorating World War II

Fort A.P. Hill, Virginia, is renamed Fort Walker after Dr. Mary Edwards Walker — the first woman surgeon in the Civil War, and the only woman awarded the Medal of Honor.

Spotlight: Commemorating the Vietnam War

Fort Benning, Georgia, will be renamed Fort Moore after Army Lt. Gen. Hal Moore and his wife, Julia Compton Moore. Moore commanded U.S. forces in the first large-scale battle of the Vietnam War. His book — “We Were Soldiers Once... And Young” was made into the 2002 movie, We Were Soldiers.

Fort Gordon, Georgia, is renamed Fort Eisenhower after General of the Army Dwight D. Eisenhower, the leader of the liberation of Europe in World War II, and the 34th president of the United States.

Spotlight: Commemorating the Korean War

Fort Lee, Virginia, is renamed after two soldiers and will become Fort Gregg-Adams. Army Lt. Gen. Arthur J. Gregg was an African-American soldier who rose from private to three-star during a career in military logistics. Army Lt. Col. Charity Adams was the first African American officer in the Women’s Army Auxiliary Corps in World War II and led the first African-American WAAC unit to serve overseas.

Fort Pickett, Virginia, is renamed Fort Barfoot in honor of Army Tech Sgt. Van T. Barfoot, who received the Medal of Honor for his actions with the 45th Infantry Division in Italy in 1944.

Fort Polk, Louisiana, is renamed Fort Johnson to commemorate Army Sgt. William Henry Johnson.

Johnson was a member of the famous Harlem Hellfighters that fought under French Army command during World War I. Johnson belatedly received the Medal of Honor for an action in the Argonne Forest of France where he fought off a German raid and received 21 wounds in the hand-to-hand fighting. President Barack Obama awarded Johnson the medal in 2015, long after the soldier died in 1929.

Fort Rucker, Alabama, is renamed after Army Chief Warrant Officer 4 Michael J. Novosel. The chief was an aviator who flew combat in both World War II and Vietnam and received the Medal of Honor for a Medevac mission under fire in Vietnam where he saved 29 soldiers.

Fort Bragg, North Carolina, is renamed Fort Liberty

• In the aftermath of the Ia Drang battles, she followed in the wake of the taxis carrying the casualty notifications to comfort the family.
• Horrified that she was not made aware of the funeral for Sgt Jack Gell, the first casualty buried at Fort Benning, she called Survivors Assistance and demanded to be notified of all funerals for 1st Battalion men. She attended every subsequent ceremony.

• Actively participated in and, as a senior Army wife, led programs to support Army families and soldiers.
• Daughter of a career Army officer who served in WW1 and WW2, a single mother with young children during her husband's deployment to the Korean and Vietnam Wars, and mother of two sons who served full careers in the Army during peace and war. Endorsed by 5 State Senate/House resolutions in Alabama, Georgia, and Kentucky

The resolutions by the legislatures of Georgia, Kentucky and Alabama commend the contributions, character and values of Hal and Julie Moore. The resolutions are uniformly bipartisan with the legislators reflecting the great breadth of diversity in America – men, women, and race. In fact, one of the Senators signing the 2002 Alabama resolution, Senator Charles Langford, represented Rosa Parks in the famous civil rights case of the 1960s.

The memorial video prepared by the Fort Benning PAO for his funeral has had 1,485,687 views on YouTube, proving Moore is both well known and loved by the American people.

In this issue, the Association is going to provide information on how the Ranger Hall of Fame is funded and the costs associated with running the program, selection to include the RHOF dinner and induction ceremony. As previously stated, the exclusive purpose is to honor those who have served and preserve the contributions of our extraordinary Rangers heritage.

The National Ranger Association (TNRA) is overall responsible for the hard work that goes into the ceremony and gathering donations from the sponsors. The overall cost is in excess of $20,000.00 per year to hold the event and pay for the medals, plaques, and ceremony. This is off set by the major Ranger Associations i.e., 75th RRA, USARA, Mountain Ranger Association and Worldwide Ranger Association contributing $4,000.00 each to pay for the staffing, dinner, and induction ceremony. This MOU was signed by all the presidents of the Ranger Associations into a binding agreement 2 years ago. This was to assist the TNRA to keep the RHOF process moving forward and to continue to honor our deserving Rangers. Granted the active branches, the 75th Ranger Regiment and the Airborne Ranger Training Brigade provide support but are not allowed to provide financial support. Yes, we use the facilities at Fort Moore (formerly known as Fort Benning) but that is as far as they can provide support.

If one of the Associations fails to provide the financial support, they will not be allowed submit packages to the actual board for that year and must provide financial restitution for the years they failed to pay so they can then start submitting packages.

And now for this year’s Ranger Hall of Fame inductees. The 75th Ranger Regiment submitted three packages and one Honorary package. Two of those were selected for induction along with our Honorary member. Sadly, one of the stalwarts (Terry Roderrick, Past President, and member of P Co Rangers) of our association did not get in but that doesn’t mean we will stop trying. However, we have two of our members who will be inducted this June into the class of 2024.

1SG (Ret) Marshall Huckaby and LTC (Ret) Richard James of N Co Rangers, 74th LRP/N Co Rangers and CW4 Jose Ibarra (Honorary Member) He was the 1st Property Book Officer from 1st Ranger Battalion in 1974 and served the unit until 1979 when he retired. We hope to see a large contingent from these units at the induction ceremony on 22 Jun 2023 at Fort Moore. The ceremony will be held at the Maneuver Center of Excellence (The old Building 4). Looking forward to seeing you there to honor these fine Rangers at the induction ceremony.

Ranger Marshall Huckaby is inducted into the Ranger Hall of Fame for his heroism, dedication, and his distinguished, continued service to his country and the Ranger Community.

During three tours in Vietnam as a Long-Range Reconnaissance Team Leader he served in the 25th Inf Div, 9th Inf Div, & 1st Inf Div, and the 1st AVN BDE, and Military Assistance Command, Vietnam. Continually displaying selflessness, devotion to duty, and bravery. During his first tour he volunteered and served in the newly formed 25th Infantry Division’s Long-Range Reconnaissance Patrol Company. He became one of the first graduates of the Military Assistance Command Vietnam (MACV) ‘Recondo’ School in Nha Trang. Ranger Huckaby returned to the United States where he continued his military career serving in many Senior NCO Leadership positions until his retirement in Oct. 1981.

Most importantly, his service to the greater Ranger Community has never stopped. A lifetime member of the 75th Ranger Regiment Association, he has served in multiple positions as Unit director of Company F 25th ID LRRPS. He has also volunteered to assist the 1st Ranger Battalion in their fund-raising programs that benefit Rangers and their families. He has volunteered his time and culinary expertise during the annual "Critter Cookout" at the Mountain Ranger Camp in Dahlonega, Ga. Marshall Huckaby established and was the first President of the Long-Range Reconnaissance Association. An Association, which honored and preserved the “Lost Brotherhood” of Long-Range Reconnaissance Warriors. He led the fun raising to secure and place Stone Memorial Benches at the National Ranger Memorial, The National Infantry Museum, and at the National Museum of the United States Army. Ranger Huckaby exemplifies the Ranger Creed as he lives this each day.

In 2018 Ranger Huckaby was honored by being inducted into the Georgia Military Hall of Fame. Ranger Huckaby has distinguished himself by his countless contributions, dedicated loyal support of the 75th Infantry Regiment, and by his devotion of selfless service embodied to the Ranger community. Ranger Huckaby’s actions are in keeping with the finest traditions of the U.S. Army Rangers, the U.S. Army, and the United States of America.

LTC Richard D. James served with incredible “grit” and distinction from a reconnaissance PLT Leader, LRP Company Commander (RVN), Ranger Company Commander (RVN), Senior Staff positions in the 101st Airborne Division, Ministry of Defense Senior Military Advisor Kingdom of Saudi Arabia, finishing his career with special operations elements planning the invasion of Grenada as a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. He is remembered by our Viet Nam 74th LRPCs and November Company Ranger brotherhood as a leader and pioneer of deep penetration reconnaissance and Hunter-Killer teams against superior NVA forces.

LTC(R) James has led the way from the central highlands of South Viet Nam to Allied Nations of the Middle East and while growing and strengthening America’s Combat deployable Forces for nearly three (3) decades. His special operations savvy and record of mission success was well-respected as a member of the Joint Services Chief of Staff.

His compassion for wounded Soldiers, service to disrupted families, and veterans with PTSD, extended from his service in our Army to his volunteer work in civilian life. The resulting health and capabilities of our fighting forces and their families is due to a humble Ranger leader and his selfless service to make a better America. Ranger Dick James remains a linchpin of the Ranger Community to this Day. Ranger James exemplifies "Rangers Led the Way" and has done so throughout his life.

CW4 (Ret) Ibarra is hereby inducted as an Honorary Member into the Ranger Hall of Fame for his superb leadership, accomplishments as the original Property Book Officer for 1st Bn (Ranger) 75th Infantry and his stellar service to the U.S. Army and his dedication to promoting the Ranger Ethos during his long military career even after his retirement.

CW4 (Ret) Ibarra served in 1st Bn (Ranger) 75th Infantry from 1974 until his retirement in 1978. He was specially selected for this assignment to 1st Bn (Ranger) 75th Infantry. CW 4 Ibarra was always willing to support Rangers to the best of his abilities as the Property Book Officer and Chief Logistics Subject Matter Expert no matter the mission. He was the true example of the Ranger Motto "Rangers Lead The Way".

CW4 (Ret) Ibarra has also served the Special Operations Community prior to his assignment to 1st Bn (Ranger) which continued after retirement by supporting and becoming active in the Chapter IX, Isaac Camacho Chapter of the Special Forces Association and the Benavides-Patterson Chapter of the All-American Airborne Association in El Paso Texas.

Through his various efforts, CW4 (Ret) Ibarra had been able to accomplish the mission and care for his Rangers and is a true credit to the U.S. Army, the Ranger Community and himself. His dedication and professionalism demonstrated a true ability to support the Rangers on the line.

CW4 Jose C. Ibarra demonstrated the exemplary nature of the true professional and what Rangers need to emulate as he "Led The Way" each and every day of his professional life and even after retirement.

Ranger Ibarra distinguished himself by his dedication and loyal support of the 75th Infantry Regiment, and by his devotion of selfless service embodied to the Ranger community. Ranger Ibarra’s actions are in keeping with the finest traditions of the U.S. Army Rangers, the U.S. Army, and the United States of America.
Hi Rangers:

Here is the information I copied from the USGS website about the Veteran’s and Gold Star passes.

ADDITIONAL OVERVIEW VIA MILITARY.COM:

How do we wake up in the morning? Do we use an alarm? Do we rely on someone else to rouse us? What is the first thing we do after we open our eyes?

Our morning routine is vital to how we move throughout the day, plays a key role in our emotions and vigilance, and assists our preparation for our evening routine. The key word here is ROUTINE. Procedure, practice, pattern, regime, program, schedule, plan, and/or drill. However, we define that crucial word, routine is key to how we perform and feel during the day.

Think about the morning. Are we usually rushed, in a hurry and flustered in activity? Do we have to drive in heavy traffic to work? Are we responsible for others (Children, spouse, soldiers?) in the morning? What are our challenges to being calm, cool and in charge of the morning?

Write the obstacles down. What can we control on our list? Let us work on what we can control. Make a list of what you can control in the morning and then work with organizing it by prioritizing the most important items first. The first item, how we wake up in the morning is the most important.

How we awaken. Alarm clock on the phone, tablet, Alexa, or Siri? Does setting these alarms help or do we turn them off?

In addition, natural light increases serotonin and cortisol hormone production that improves our emotional state and attentiveness throughout the day.

Even if we use an alarm to awaken, it is a good idea to expose ourselves to natural light in the morning and throughout the day. (https://www.cnet.com/health/sleep/still-waking-up-to-an-alarm-heres-why-you-should-use-light-instead/)

Those few first moments are essential to how we ‘feel’ during the day and how we get a good night’s sleep in the evening. Such a simple, yet powerful, morning transition may change our entire life.

When we open our eyes, what do we see? The ceiling? The floor? It all depends on where our head is facing when we awaken. What we see is important to our thinking. I usually ask my clients to pick a short, encouraging, statement (or prayer) that they would like to believe about themselves, put it on a poster (8x11), and attach it to the ceiling above their bed. An example might be; “I am a go-getter,” or “I am in Control,” or “Seize the day.” Choose a saying that inspires positive thinking about yourself. It will be the first thing you see in the morning and the last thing you see at night.

Before our feet hit the floor take a few (About 5-10) deep breaths of air into the lungs and let it out slowly. Very Slowly. As you look at the positive, inspirational statement, breathe deeply in and out about 5-10 times, exhaling very slowly. This breathing technique may help remind the brain what to do when something during the day triggers stress or anxiety.

Now your feet hit the floor. What do you do next? Some will do some pushups, some rush to the toilet. Others will brush their teeth and some others will be in such a rush they are putting on clothes as they grab their phone.

The essential items are:

1. How you wake up in the morning (Behavior)
2. Getting natural light (It changes your physiology)
3. Breathing correctly (Changes your physiology)
4. Thinking of something positive. (Thinking)

These are Total Behaviors that help us move in a direction that meets our Basic Needs. Does your present behavior have a reasonable chance of getting you what you want, and will it take you in the direction that leads you to your goal in life?

Create the morning routine that works for you. Everyone has priorities and this is where creativeness comes into play. There are many great podcasts, blogs, and articles that give ideas of how to arrange the morning that helps a person feel cool, calm and in control. Try to plan activities that work for you. Below are some links that have innovative ideas on what may help the day be fantastic.

The 12th Annual Honoring Sandrino’s Sacrifice was held on 12 May at the Pitman Golf Course with 282 golfers participating in the double tee time (AM&PM) event.

It was a beautiful day to play golf and mix with old and new friends while remembering Sgt. Alessandro L. Plutino who was KIA 08Aug, 2011 OEF. He was in his 6th deployment with the 1/75 in the Global War on Terror.

Sgt. Alessandro L. Plutino will be one of the Fallen honored with his name on a car.

Sandrino’s car will be #47 driven by Ricky Stenhouse Jr. for JTG Daugherty Racing.

There are a few pictures of the day with Rangers and their families on this page.

MERRILL’S MARAUDERS

Camp Frank D. Merrill events honor Merrill’s Marauders

WWII Merrill’s Marauders were honored this SPRING by several, separate Camp Frank D. Merrill events commemorating their 2022 involvement in presenting the then five living Marauders with the first five Congressional Gold Medals. LEFT: Camp Merrill Commander LTC Chris Green presents two Congressional Gold Medals to Assistant Site Manager Jason Grantham at FDR’s Little White House in Warm Springs, GA, where they will be permanently displayed in a large glass case beneath the “finished,” famous, “unfinished portrait” of President Franklin D. Roosevelt. The April presentation was one of the last for LTC Green before a new assignment and also long-time Historic Site Manager Robin Glass’s retirement. Glass (inset) is holding the front and back of the Congressional Gold Medals donated from 75th Ranger Regiment Association president Art Attaway’s fund-raising campaign.

Camp Merrill museum gets amazing “facelift”

The one-room Camp Frank D. Merrill Museum – which has been more of a “place of honor” for the men who have served or commanded there – has been renovated so the walls now have attractive ceiling-to-floor panels that colorfully tell the story of all Ranger conflicts. Exhibit/graphic designer Tom Walker volunteered to create the stunning panels. Both Walker and Drew Herbert, Mountain Ranger Association, did the “grunt work” that transformed the tiny building into a showplace in time for a 2023 Family Day “grand opening.” Bob Howland, son of the late Merrill’s Marauder Gilbert Howland, funded major expenses. The New Jersey resident, his sister, Mary, Walker and Herbert received awards on “Family Day.”

On June 3rd of 2021, the current Board of Directors started the Hardrock Charlie Foundation, Inc as a charity based in Florida. We immediately filed for and received our 501(c)(3) status. Since the start of HCF, we were able to assist three Rangers and their families attend our first official reunion with little or no cost to the families. We have also been able to support other programs, as our charter allows. Since inception, the growth in our grass roots organization and of the reunion has been nothing short of amazing! Our membership has stepped up on numerous occasions to ensure we were able to both grow and facilitate our mission. We feel that to continue to support those in need and grow the organization, we need to reach for outside support.

We hope that your organization will partner with us and choose one of the several exciting opportunities during the 2023 reunion and water jump events!
My name is Lee Garcia. I retired from the army in 2019 and now reside in Harris County Georgia with my wife and two children, minus basic training and AIT, I spent the entirety of my career at the 75th Ranger Regiment. I joined the 75th Ranger Regiment in 2000 where I was stationed at the regimental headquarters as an intelligence analyst. I soon moved over to 3rd Ranger battalion while assigned to the S2 shop as an intelligence analyst and stayed there until 2008. From there I moved back to regimental headquarters and eventually was the first Sergeant at the MICO at the RSTB. I deployed 13 times in support of the GWOT, to include participating in both the invasion of Afghanistan and Iraq. I completed my career as the provisional Battalion Sergeant Major for the Military Intelligence Battalion. I am a graduate of the US Army Ranger School Jump-master School, BNCOC, ANCOC and various other military and specialty training courses.

I currently own and operate a fitness training facility in Harris County Georgia where I can spend more time with my family and train interact with my community. I look forward to being a representative for the MI battalion and the 75th Ranger Regiment Association. In addition to running a training facility. I facilitate team building and leadership training for high school and college sports teams. Our gym has partnered with Project Resilience and Combat Stress Reaction Treatment (CSRT Psychotherapy) combining fitness and group discussion to combat PTSD, anxiety, depression, and provide a place where Veterans can decompress and express themselves. Project Resilience is a marriage between traditional mental health talking on the couch therapy with fitness.

We tipped our pints once again to another annual St. Patty’s and now head into summer with a number of great upcoming events we can all enjoy.

Foremost, our 75th RRA annual reunion (register on our website and review the agenda) is being held at 2/75 & our hotel is in Olympia, WA (20 miles south of JBL-M).

We have a number of scheduled events hosted by 2nd Batt and our speakers at the banquet are CMoH Recipient, MSG (R) Leroy Petry & former 75th RR RCO, BG (R) “Smoking” Joe Stringham.

I had the honor to represent our Rangers during St. Patty’s Week in Savannah’s annual Sergeant Jasper Military Remembrance Ceremony honoring the service and sacrifices of our Veterans; unfortunately, our 1st Batt Rangers were not available to honor them with us.

Jasper was a hero making the ultimate sacrifice during the siege of Savannah during the Revolutionary War. I tied my address around Veterans of all our nation’s wars/conflicts and especially those of Savannah’s Imperial Battalion, sharing the valorous actions of heroes such as Doc Peney, one of our Ranger Medics.

This quarter supported our active-duty Rangers, our fallen, wounded & Gold Star Families through annual fund-raising events ICW the Sua Sponte Foundation (SSF) in honor of MSG Fernandez, SSG Dalke & SGT Plutino, all KIA during the GWOT.

Hard Rock Charlie” led by legendary SGM (R) Duke Durkan, conducted their annual water jump and this year he opened it up for all 75th Ranger Regiment Veterans, young, old, older, and oldest!

We hope to have our groundbreaking next month for the 1/75 Heritage Center thanks to our generous patriots supporting SSF. We anticipate having it complete in time for a ribbon cutting during our Battalion’s 50th anniversary reunion in May 2024… since reactivating in ‘74.

As training has always been intense with repetitive cycles of continued readiness in the Regiment, I would like to share this spring the 1st Ranger Battalion has executed ARFR, a challenging Fires Support Coordination Exercise and completed a complex exercise at the National Training Center at Fort Irwin, CA.

1. People

SGT Tanner Higgins Hero Remembrance. On 14 April, D CO Rangers gathered to remember SGT Tanner Higgins who was killed in action in Logar Province, Afghanistan on that date in 2012. 1SG Matthew Buck and MSG Johansen shared some memories of SGT Higgins with the Company. D CO then conducted the Hero WOD in remembrance of his sacrifice and to honor his legacy.

Easter Weekend Activities: Of note, CH Jordan Henricks led the HAAF, GA protestant service on Easter. The service was the highest attended on HAAF in the past 10 years. Additionally, the 1/75 Soldier Readiness Groupers hosted a Spring Fling event at Oatland Island Wildlife Center for Rangers and families from across the Battalion. Kids and families had a blast hunting for Easter eggs, exploring the nature trails and mini zoo, and filling up on ice cream and candy.

Advanced Ranger First Responder (ARFR): 1/75 conducted its annual ARFR course at HAAF, GA and FSGA to train non-68W Rangers on advanced point of injury care, life-saving procedures, and how to properly assist medics during surgical procedures. ARFRs are a vital component of the overall Ranger Casualty Response system and play a pivotal role in saving lives on the battlefield. This year, the Battalion Medical Platoon successfully certified 35x ARFRs.

Best Ranger Competition: Below photo- SSG Murphy and SGT Reichman (both 1/75 Medics) represented 1/75 at this year’s Best Ranger Competition in FBGA. They put in an incredible amount of work and we are proud of their performance.

Best Mortar Competition: SSG Miller and his teammates SGT Bursik, SPC Hane, and SPC Hudson, placed 2nd in the Army’s Best Mortar Competition at Fort Benning, GA. We are extremely proud of their accomplishment and look forward to taking the Gold next year.

Lessons Learned:
The ability to incorporate our Weapons Squads into a MG Academy, followed by inclusion in the FSCX is not new, however it has not been done in some time due to timing constraints of OPREP. The feedback was universal that this was critical to gaining proficiency across the science of weapons employment, while the incorporation into the following day’s iterations of FSCX facilitated the GFC to PL to WSL connection in conjunction with fires.

Second, utilizing disperse geographic locations for simultaneous platoon objectives stressed all element’s PACE plan. The exercise served as a catalyst for internal discussion and AARs that identified shortcomings prior to our upcoming MLAT and NTC rotation. With a myriad of new leaders in positions, this event’s timing was paramount.

Hooah!! Ranger Buddies,

I hope this edition of Patrolling magazine finds you all highly motivated.

Special Shout out to CSM Conrad and all the other Las Vegas Rangers, thanks for reaching out, looking forward to scheduling a breakfast with all LV Rangers.

Another Best Ranger Competition is in the books and it should come as no surprise the Regiment took first place with Capt. Luke Ebeling and Spec. Justin Rein as the winning team. Spec. Rein is also a member of 2/75, and he is the first Spc. to ever win the best Ranger competition. This is the third consecutive year that Regiment has won.

Upcoming events:
26Jun-1 Jul 75th RRA Reunion
Friday 30 Jun 2/75 Ranger Ball.

War Story:
David Cummings submitted this war Story former 2/75 Ranger. David was assigned to Aco 2/75 1974-1976, Cco 2/75 1982-1985. He has held positions as Ranger Team Ldr, Platoon Sgt, and Benning Phase RTB NCOIC. David is a Member of Sons of Mosby Motorcycle Association, and a member of the Ranger Hall of Fame class of 2020.

October 1983, Urgent Fury. I was PSG 3rd Plt C Company. We were only able to take less than half the men in each platoon on the mission. There was only lift for half of 2nd Batt. The toughest thing I ever had to do in a 25-year career was to get the platoon together and pick who was going to war and who had to stay behind. It so happened that one of my squads was also the Battalion Scout Squad. Led by SSG Glen Webb it had to go intact. That squad allowed the platoon to get the best missions during the operation. During the airmobile to evacuate students from the Grand Anse campus, we were chosen to secure the gym where the students were assembled and herd them into the choppers. During the Calvigny raid we got the nod to clear the barracks buildings in the compound. As PSG, our attached 90mm Recoilless Rifle team followed me around. I was a 90 gunner once and sympathized with those guys lugging that big gun and heavy ammo around. We missed the famous BTR-60 attack and so went their big chance to actually use that thing.

We were executing the Calvigny Raid. There were six or so long single-story wooden barracks in a row. 3rd Squad, the Scout Squad, is clearing the buildings one at a time while the rest of the platoon provides security and overwatch under PL Steven Brown. Being a Vietnam vet, I knew we were not being shot at and the barracks all appeared to be unoccupied. However, this was outstanding training, so I allowed execution of our SOPs to continue. I noticed a small building to our right standing by itself. Anyone in that building would have a good shot at our flank so, theoretically, it was a threat. I did not want that 90 team to have to go back home without firing a shot. What the hell, I pointed the building out to the gunner and told him to put an HE in that sucker. His eyes lit up and he set up the shot. Just as he was about to fire CPT Hannah, our CO, comes around the corner of the building we are next to. I yell CHECK FIRE! The CO immediately recognizes he is staring up the ass end of a recoilless rifle ready to go and slinks back around the corner. Fire! BAM!

So, it turns out this little building is a four-hole outhouse. Now, being out there in the tropical sun, that shitter must have generated an enormous quantity of methane gas. Wham! BAMMO! The secondary explosion was epic. Like the secondary you see in some WWII gun camera footage. The building was no more. Boards flew a hundred feet in the air. Then it began to rain shit, all over my platoon. The action just came to a halt as everyone just stood there, dumbfounded, giving me the WTF look. Then the action resumed and the boys finished their work. It would be a while before we would be able take a bath.

I hope you enjoyed David’s war story.

If you have a war story, memories you would like to share, or a 2nd BN Ranger you would like to see spotlighted send me the info, this is your page I need content.

Hope to see you all in June.
I hope everyone survived their winter. It is time for the snow to melt and the grass to turn green. And it is time for me to pass the baton at the Legion. I have been Commander for the last 3 years and I decided it is time to let someone else drive the train. I have enjoyed the time and will continue as an Officer in a position yet to be determined. It will most likely be the Post Finance Officer, as no one ever wants it and I have been helping our current Finance Officer since he has been having health issues. I have been fortunate to have a good staff of Officers to help make us successful. We were $8,000 in the hole when we opened back up after covid in August 2020. We now have money to fix up the building and do the things of the Legion Mission, such as donating to local organizations, handing out scholarships to both high schools in our county and giving a helping hand to our members and local Veterans. Best of all, we serve the coldest, cheapest beer in town ($2.25).

Michelle and I have stayed busy in the garage all winter, her with her stained glass and me in the wood shop. We are gearing up for our shows this year and trying to build up inventory, but keep getting orders. But that is a good problem to have, I guess. Anyone who has ever tried doing crafts knows that you do not get rich, you hope you sell enough to pay for your investment. But it is fun and keeps us busy.

Tom Wier is still recovering in a rehab facility in El Paso. I have talked to him on the phone a few times and he seems to be getting better each time. Mark Ross is back in a nursing home in Salt Lake City. He has several health issues, but seems to be holding his own. Mike Cantrell said that after a few scary months, his wife Michelle is now considered to be in remission. And the best news we could get was Austan, my grandson who had the issue with the brain tumor while stationed in Hawaii, has been declared in remission and that the tumor will not likely return. The doctors had told him in Hawaii that he had 4-7 years. Now they say he will grow old and gray.

Gene (Bob) Gilsdorf stopped by our house on his way back to Kansas. He had been at a weightlifting meet in Valley Forge. He said he set another National record for his age group, lifting 165 over his head. Not bad for a 70y/o 135 lb., but he is a Ranger right. If he ever stops by your house and he says he wants to make hard boiled eggs, kindly decline. Gene told the story of how he lost his wife a couple of years ago, and how she did all the cooking. Gene admitted he could not boil water, so he tried to make hard boiled eggs in his microwave. First try was just an egg in a bowl, BOOM!!!. Second try someone told him to poke a pin hole in the egg, BOOM!!!. Third try was trying to warm up a hard-boiled egg he bought at the store, BOOM!!!. Michelle fixed breakfast the next morning with scrambled eggs. It was great having Gene visit. He is a retired rural carrier, so we had some Postal stories to swap and I got him signed up for the Association. He left the next morning and stopped to see Don VanArsdale. Don lives about 50 miles from me, on the southwest side of Indy. I think Don was on a remodel job and put Gene to work as they talked. Don missed our April breakfast, seems he and Cheris were out in N.M. hiking in the mountains.

From Tom B.: When I arrived in country for my second tour I was assigned to The Americal Division and the 23rd Combat Engineer Company. I had a platoon of men who had served with the 555 Combat Engineers, some of McNamara’s 1000 troops and take my word for it they weren’t as dumb as people made them out to be (with one exception, that I’ll tell later). We made bunkers and fighting positions on LZ YOUNG AND LZ GATOR, PLUS I flew Recon finding LZ’s. I was in an OH-13 open bubble helicopter, which I had flown when I was in Sacramento Cal. I was picked for assignment to Co B, 1st Bn. 6th inf. As the platoon Sergeant of 2nd platoon with a total of 17 men including me and my RTO as our medic went with us. We made three ambush sites breaking down into three roving ambush teams each night and meeting up the next morning to sleep and rest. We saw the rest of the company about every three months for R&R and get new assignments. We had contact and a firefight on my first day and they changed my Mos to 11B40 AND AWARDED THE CIB. After about a month we received a brand-new 2nd Lt. who said he graduated last in his class, and he studied BUGS in college. He tripped a booby trap and was medevacked.

After another 3 months we got another Lt. He was a first Lt. and had his stuff together. His name was Louhan. Now for that man that I spoke of earlier. He was an INSTANT SHAKE AND BAKE NCO had some good ones, but this dude was not one of them. I had to go back to the rear to sign my re-enlistment papers and when I returned, we received sniper fire from a bunch of Banana trees and found that the idiot Sergeant had gotten separated from the platoon because he thought he had found a better spot to lie in. I sent him packing to the rear and put on permanent shit burning detail. After a long wait we finally got lucky and lucked out as Bridge detail securing a new bridge outside of Chu Lai. With a TOC and sand bagged bunkers on both sides of the bridge. We had problems with the Vietnamese troops stealing from us until I booby trapped a pile of lumber with a smoke grenade which they decided not to steal from us anymore. I was in the TOC after cleaning my M-16 along with Sgt. Ames when we heard a bunch of screaming, hollering and gunfire from across the bridge. I grabbed my weapon and a bandoleer and went out the TOC door. I saw a Vietnamese man running across the bridge and the Vietnamese yelling VC! VC!

I yelled in Vietnamese to him to stop. He raised his hand and yelled something back, that's when SGT Ames came out and yelled "GRENADE!" By this time, he was between me and one of my bunkers and I fired but he kept moving, so I moved the selector switch to "AUTOGITTEM" and as the grenade went off, I hit the ground and back on my feet with another magazine locked and loaded. The Vietnamese was down and had given up the fight as I had hit him 18 times and was mad because he made me have to clean my weapon all over again. This was right after Mileh and I was charged with Murder. Kept me past my DEROS and finally a justifiable homicide ruling with a one-year bar of serving in Vietnam. 11 months later 71/72 I was back in Country with the 101st airborne at Phu Bia.

I have been married three times. MY FIRST WIFE AND I MARRIED when I was seventeen, and she was 15. We had a son when she was 16. And divorced that same year. She was murdered by one of her boyfriends who then killed himself. Her name was Kathryn Earleen McKay. My second wife and I had a son in 1965. Her name was Ilsa Ludwina German. She died young from Lupus. My third wife, I met at Darnell Army Hospital at Fort Hood Texas when I was with Co A, 75th Rangers. Our company was making parachute jumps and back of one of the men had a 4 bubble canopy and coming down fast. I thought I would get under him and break his fall. Then I said you do that, and it will kill you both. Medics picked him up, took him to the hospital where I went to see him. He was in bed with his leg in traction and was outside his room when this REAL Nice-looking Medic in nurses white came by delivering meds. Me, not being bashful said "EXCUSE ME MISS, BUT ARE YOU MARRIED? IF NOT, YOU’RE GOING TO MARRY ME!" She dropped all her meds and ran back to the nurse's station. That was 48 years ago, and we are still married! We have one Daughter, two Sons, grand kids, and great grandchildren. I am now totally disabled and had a broken neck from a bad parachute landing that the Army said was just a sprain. After six years that sprain was diagnosed as a break in the 6th and 7th cervical spine when I became paralyzed in my left arm. The doctors at the VA hospital in Ashville North Carolina took a chunk of bone from my hip and fused the bones in my neck. I now cannot walk good without a bad limp. I have had two heart attacks, stints put in, cancer of the left lung and surgery to remove a large portion of that lung. I am now having to use oxygen and ride on a scooter. My wife Donna has been appointed as my Caregiver. I thank God for her and the care she is giving me!

I have started writing this in early April, but will finish up prior to the May deadline, just about a year after our last get together in Waco. Michell got home this afternoon. She and her sister had flown down to McAllen, TX. last week and drove their mom and dad home from their winter stay. Which is what she and I did after we left Waco last year. Then just a few weeks later, we learned that we lost Doug Nolen. Tiffany has said she is doing ok and thinking about moving back to Germany or somewhere in Europe but promised to return in November 2024.

I sent out an email with a summation of the last Unit Directors meeting. The big take-aways were the new www.75thRRA.org website, which is up and running with a few kinks to work out and the upcoming Rendezvouz in the Olympia WA. area in June. IF you can go, make sure you go on Wednesday. There will be hands on/live firing at the range. Also, The National Infantry Museum at Ft. Benning is looking for items to add to the Ranger Room at the Museum. If you have items relating to time served in the Rangers and would like to see it preserved rather than end up at a garage sale after you are gone, let me know.

Always looking for stories, whether it’s about your time in the Company or time spent since then. Memorial Day will be over by the time this hits the news stand, but remember those that have gone before us, look after those still with us, and encourage those who will follow us. Look for a Ranger Breakfast in your area, most meet on the 1st Saturday of the month. It may not be close; we have several who drive 1½ - 2 hours to attend the Mid-Indiana breakfast at the Dutch Café in Peru, IN. We had Frank Gardner, a member from Charlie Company, attend our Ranger Breakfast in April. He spent a year in Viet Nam and then a year with them back in the states. He had on the same PT shirt we had, only with a C on it. Remember to do your buddy checks. Maybe someone will even check on you!!

Until next time,

2024 Best Ranger Competition-Stay Tuned
I enjoyed the constant diet of crab, shrimp and fish to the locals.

I met Bob Reitz there and we ran into Jim Regan also. Lots of young studs and not too many old timers like us. Anyway, a good time was had by all, and the meal was great. It was nice to see the young Rangers with their families. There are still tough men willing to serve their country and it is greatly appreciated.

Walk on the Wild Side By: Keith Nightingale

In early December 1967, a combined ARVN/US road clearing of Highway one, QL 1 connecting Saigon with the rest of the nation -long before blocked by the war and VC presence began. This would open the road from Saigon to Phan Thiet for the first time in many years.

The operation consisted of Engineer elements with Rome Plows, the 11th ACR and 18th ARVN Division spearheaded by the 52 Ranger Bn a I as Senior Advisor. We began in the early morning with mixed Cav and Ranger packages securing key terrain along the way. Plows, road graders and artillery followed.

Over several days, villes were uncovered and cleared allowing the rapidly enveloping bus traffic to begin from and to Saigon. At each ville, the GVN sent in medcap and other personnel to re-engage the population. Surprisingly, many of these small villes were seriously undernourished and suffered from significant maladies.

My SF medic conducted his own medcap. As we cleared a ville, he would assess issues and immediately after securing he would set up his palm tree aid station. We had a daily courier jeep to and from Xuan Loc to keep him in supplies. He was supplemented by a Cav Doc who relished the opportunity to practice medicine other than GSW and shrapnel.

By the end of the week, we found ourselves in Ham Tan and the coast. This became our CP for two weeks as the elements worked their way North toward Phan Thiet. Almost immediately upon occupation, two elements descended upon us-busses from Saigon and John Paul Vann and his CORDS crews.

Vang brought a form of rudimentary government, reconstruction material and van loads of American’s who disappeared after lunch. The busses brought in families and materials long denied to the locals.

I enjoyed the constant diet of crab, shrimp and fish-items missing from the C Rat menu list.

Major Vo Vang

By: Freddy McFarren

LTG (Ret)

From July 1968 until June 1969 I served with the 1st Vietnamese Ranger Group stationed in Da Nang, Vietnam in northern I Corps. I spent a few months as the Assistant Battalion Advisor with the 37th Vietnamese Ranger Battalion followed by serving as the Battalion Advisor with the 21st Vietnamese Ranger Battalion until I was wounded and then served as the Operations Advisor to the Ranger Group.

While serving with the 21st Ranger Battalion, I was very fortunate to support the Battalion Commander, Major Vo Vang, who was truly a courageous patriot while being a strong war fighter in every sense of the work. He had served as a young Ranger Officer earning the respect and recognition of all who knew him. During the TET Offensive of 1968 as the Commander of the 21st Ranger Battalion, he was instrumental in saving the family of the Vietnamese Corps commander in Hue as well as the recapture of the city. He participated in numerous operations earning many high-level Vietnamese awards for valorous courage.

While serving as his advisor, Vo Vang was decorated by the US Army for his actions when his battalion came to the rescue of the American advisors of a sister Ranger Battalion during a significant fight with North Vietnamese forces. Later the 1st Vietnamese Ranger Group including the 21st Battalion was awarded a US Navy unit award while serving under Marine Task Forces south of Da Nang.

While serving as the Commander of the 5th Regiment of the 2nd Vietnamese Division, Vo Vang was captured defending the city of Da Nang in 1975. On 14 April 1976 he was murdered in a so-called R-education Camp. According to friends in the camp with him, he was a fighter till the very end.

As a young officer, I learned so much from this tremendous soldier-leader which was critical to my personal development as an officer. I feel very blessed to have had such a mentor, coach, and example as Major Vo Vang.

Several years ago, I linked up with an outstanding Marine officer who served with us on a major Marine operation named Taylor Common. This Marine officer was very impressed with the 21st Vietnamese Ranger Battalion. Shortly after we reconected, he was able to locate Vo Vang’s family who live in California.

They made it to the United States in the early 1980’s. Needless to say I was very excited to meet the family which we did several years ago.

I thought the family had been able to leave Vietnam under some type of special program. There was no such program and the family (under the leadership of the mother) had escaped over a several year period to Hong Kong and then to Minnesota. When Da Nang fell and Vo Vang was captured defending the city, the family had escaped on an American cargo ship that was scheduled to head towards the United States. The mother decided the family had to get off the ship since she did not know the fate of her husband. They were let off on Phu Quoc Island, the southernmost island of South Vietnam. Vo Vang’s wife was not about to leave Vietnam while her husband was being held. After several months, the family made their way back to the mainland of Vietnam and then made the long trip back to Da Nang.

Vo Vang was well known to the North Vietnamese officials because of his outstanding reputation as a true war fighting hero for South Vietnam. This fact made life for his family more difficult and would prevent them from such things as attending better school where Vo Vang’s wife had been an official. The mother made the decision that the family would try to escape to the United States. It is so hard for me to appreciate the strength of the family facing the dangers and difficulties in leaving South Vietnam. They are truly a wonderful example of the determination and moral fiber of the Vietnamese people.

The mother, her four daughters and two sons were eventually reunited in Minnesota. These brothers and sisters earned degrees from the University of Minnesota mainly in Engineering fields. Many of the family live in California and are married with their own successful families. Vo Vang’s children are very competent professionals in their chosen fields. I know he would be so proud of his family and especially his wife’s courage and determination in getting all the family to the United States.

It is not surprising to me this family has done well knowing the character of Vo Vang. Maybe the real hero in this story is the strong-willed wife of Vo Vang who sought the best for her family. At any rate, this is another example of the wonderful people of Vietnam.

Possible Reunion Update:

Last issue I asked you for your preference for a reunion site and I have received only one response. Therefore, I am postponing the reunion this year and will arbitrarily choose a site. Possibly San Antonio in late April 2024.

I will leave you with a few quotes:

Quotes:

As many of you can see one of my favorite humorists is Will Rogers, so I will leave you with a couple more from the wise political sage.

“Never slap a man who’s chewing tobacco.”

“Never miss a good chance to shut up.”

VII CORPS LRRPs AND REUNION

Subject: 2023 75th Ranger Association Rendezvous

Date: Tue, 11 Apr 2023

From: Richard Foster

Buenos Diaz, El Troopos. LRRP news updates.

Wow! Recently received a call from Fatback the other day.

His worldly introduction:"I'm back!"

I had to ask, "From where?"

Turns out, he listened to the wrong people telling him that he suffered from "cognitive decline".

I told him that was all bullshit! For our genre, cognitive decline is misinformation speak for successful aging.

The alternative is no cognition!

He called to find out what's going on, so I gave him the following bi-annual 75thRRA Rendezvous info:

Dates: June 26-July 1, 2023

Place: Olympia Hotel at Capitol Lake

2300 Evergreen Park Dr. SW

Olympia, WA

Ph #: 800-206-9339 (Jessica Morhous)

So far, 4 of us have committed: Toby Ivey+1, Kirk Gibson+1, Fatback+1, and I.

Kirk was crying like a baby at the cost of flying, but I informed him the real costs of voting for Democrats is Brandon and Buttejerk.

I'm fairly certain that there will be others, but I haven't heard from them (Allen, Lengel, Fee, Touchon, Vanassee, et al).

Those on prolonged sick call will not be attending: Mssrs:Clark, Yarbrough, Storey, Mathiak, and Evaro.

After this message I'll try to get a snail mail message out to our PC-illiterate Brothers.

I may (or may not) get out a finished itinerary of events as it solidifies.

The 2nd Ranger Battalion is hosting this year's event.

Some of you may recall that we, the Jayhawk LRRPs, collected and donated $1,000 to help establish 2nd Rangers "Point du Hoc" Memorial at their compound at Lewis-McChord.

We may want to check it out and see how well they spent our LRRP donation dollars.

Tom Forde wrote the check, so we can only assume it was good.

Speaking of dues, Tom says we have enough money for our administrative duties, so no collection is currently anticipated. Having said that, I think/expect we should start a "pauper" fund to help some of our Brothers make these reunions. Nominations and donations should go to Forde and/or me. Don't put it off!!

One next to last info note: I have funded the first, of what I hope is many more of the following:

75th Ranger Regiment Association Tribute Rifles

To be donated and used to support the Association’s several charities (i.e., Family, Scholarship, etc.).

This first Henry Golden Boy, lever action, 22 caliber (HOO1) will be engraved as follows:

Honoring Col Edward Maltese, Founder VII Corps Long Range Reconnaissance Patrol Co (Airborne) 1960

This first Tribute Rifle is to be raffled off at the 2023 Rendezvous in Washington with all monies collected going to the above mentioned charities, (Side note: It would be great if Henry Repeating Arms and its President Anthony Imperato could or would see fit support such an effort as long as there is a 75th Ranger Regiment and Association in existence. If Harley Davidson Motorcycles can see fit to be an official sponsor of the Army Rangers, I think Henry Repeating Arms Company may want to be an honored part of our heritage. Can our Association Execs look into this? (I've tried but to no avail).

Two final notes:

I haven't finished reading my last edition of Patrolling, but there are two other submissions that are excellent reads:

On page 38, 1st Cav's article by Pete Dencker honoring, among others, a nice piece on Maj David B. Tucker, Killed In Action 1 October 1967 in Vietnam (several years after he left the VII Corps LRRP Co. in Germany). We visited his gravesite beside his legendary father, General Ruben Tucker (WWII 504th PIR) in Savannah GA.

Another great article, submitted by Diane Reitz (page 41) via UD David Christian of 1st Infantry Division LRRPs (I/75, F/52 LRP). Worthy readings.

Our own submissions by Bill Mathiak and B/75 UD Marc Thompson for their excellent stories of the past and present. We LRRPs appreciate your services!

That's it! I know you guys know that we VII Corps Long Range Reconnaissance Patrol Companies filled the gap between the 2nd Battalion Rangers of WWII and today's 2nd Battalion 75th Regiment Rangers.

Our lineage runs strong and we are AIRBORNE proud to be a part of it!

RICARDO TORRES & FISHING (2016)

From Ricardo: I don’t think Delta Junction has fish like this.

Caught on the Rogue River. If I could get fish of this quality at Whole Foods I would. Hope this was one mile from the ocean on the Rogue River. We will be fishing it for the last time as I suspect they will close it down next Spring. I think this will be the last Spring Season to fish it due to poor runs and California hasn’t set its River Salmon dates yet so I see where it may close also. I guess it will be a fall fishery that competes with deer season and that sucks.

SICK CALL: RANGER VOYLES

Tony Richardson will be trying to assist Ranger Voyles in attending any of those Reunion events (if possible).

Hope you all have the opportunity to visit at the Reunion, or at the dedication of Eldon Bargewell’s Memorial Park. I will try to get some after-action reports for the next issue.

Until next time... High Speed, Low Drag...

I have attached a picture of Bob Shafer with a large bandage on his forehead; his wound was the result of a fistfight with Don Kinton while at base camp at An Khe. The ruckus with a disagreement over who could kick a soccer ball harder, a soccer player or an American football player. Kinton was a star high school soccer player and Shaffer had a football scholarship from the University of Tennessee where he kicked extra points, field goals, and kickoffs. When the fight ended, Shaffer and Kinton couldn’t stop the bleeding on Shaffer’s head with bandages.

About midnight, they woke up Charles Samuelson, Team Leader of Team 4-6 and asked him to help control the bleeding. Sam had completed the army’s eight-week combat medic training in San Antonio, Texas, so he put two stitches in Shaffer’s without anesthesia; that solved the problem! Who knows why they didn’t take Bob to the field hospital. Bob just “gutted it out”. Shaffer was considered by our platoon to be the “tough guy from Ohio”! The three photos of Bob Shaffer include one with the bandage, another with Ray Bohrer, and a third before a patrol mission.

Don Kinton’s Team 4-3 tangled with an NVA unit on March 6, 1968; Sadly, Don was shot in the chest and died on the operating table in the Pleiku hospital.

When not fighting Charlie or the NVA, the boys would be back in base camp fighting with each other. No one can tell you why.

In Search of the Enemy

Story and photos by SP5 A.P. HONEGGER

The hill is of stone. Rising black and empty on the western end of the valley, it marks the fore-runner of the jagged mountains that form the Annamese Cordillera, running north to south over Indochina.

Slowly, almost reluctantly, men clad in black and green tiger suits reach the hilltop. Without a word or sign they fan out, taking up their respective defensive positions. Two of them settle against a protruding black rock. One tests the radio set while another opens a map on his knees. The man with the map takes out a pair of field glasses, focuses and begins a slow, methodical survey from the foot of the hill to a vast expanse of open clearing to the right of a spur.

The coastline is visible on the horizon—the South China Sea, a dark blue in the setting sun. It is past seven in the evening. The day had been hot and languid, laden with an acrid smell of dust and dank emanations of the sun-scorched trees. Some Vietnamese call this part of Binh Thuan Province the desert of Vietnam for a small portion of the valley is arable land.

Reduced to a mere shadow by the setting sun, the man with the field glasses studies the eastern portion of the valley, swinging from north to south along a tree line that forms a grim reminder of a once luxuriant vegetation. There was no sign of life all around. The men gradually vanish in the tenebrous tentacles of the night. Yet they know the enemy is there. The day before another team had been extracted under enemy fire from that very same clearing. As he had done in the past, the enemy would be moving during the early hours of dusk and part of the night.

The man with the glasses holds a long time on the open clearing, quadrangled by a tree line on all four sides. A likely place for the Viet Cong to assemble. But tonight it seemed empty too. The array of trails was next—those long, narrow paths, like a criss-cross of scars, which allow the enemy to move without map and compass.

Suddenly, the field glasses stop, swing back—here it is, a tiny dot of light moving along a trail. Another one on the left, slowly oscillates towards the same general direction. Seems like some rallying point.

Without undue haste or motion, the radio operator contacts the Tactical Operation Center (TOC) several miles to the southeast. The man with the glasses, the team leader, plots the enemy’s position on the map and sends his report in faint but distinctly audible words. Back at the TOC, the radio transmission has been entered verbatim in a log, and coordinates of the enemy location and direction of movement are marked on the map that covers an entire wall.

It had been a long and tedious march to the hilltop. The dried out leaves and twigs on the ground had considerably slowed the ascension and the big, black rocks had not made movement easier.

Early that day, a slick—troop carrying helicopter—flanked by two gunships had infiltrated the men into their area of operations.

The senior scout or point man went first. Ten to 20 meters behind, the assistant team leader, and in five to 15-meter intervals, the team leader, radio-telephone operator (RTO) and scout followed.

The march to the foot of the hill had been smooth and easy. But the climb had taken its toll in muscle and water. The water especially posed a major problem. It would have to be dropped from the air...

These men, Staff Sergeant James W. Nobles, Orange, Tex., the team leader; Sergeant Robert J. Shaffer, Sharpsville, Pa., the assistant team leader; Specialist 4 Richard Spears, Ottawa, Canada, senior scout; Specialist 4 Ronald E. Renau, Charleston, S.C., RTO; and Specialist 4 James E. Perry Jr. of Tover, Del., a scout, are members of Long Range Patrol (LRP) Team 45, 4th Platoon, Company E (LRP), 20th Infantry, Airborne.

Based at Pleiku’s Camp Enari, Company E (LRP), 20th Infantry, Airborne, is assigned to I Field Force Vietnam and attached to B Company, 5th Special Forces Group, Airborne, to conduct reconnaissance operations within II Corps Tactical Zone.

The company, headed by Major William O’Connor of Boston, Mass., was formed in Phan Rang in September of 1967 and has been operational since November when it moved to Camp Enari in the Central Highlands.

A member of Company E from its organization, Staff Sergeant Georges J. Barber of Thermopolis, Wyo., points out that, “The bulk of the company was originally formed of hand-picked volunteers from the 101st Airborne Division.”

Company E is organized into four platoons of seven teams each, a headquarters section handling all the administrative and logistical work, and a communications platoon which is responsible for the vital radio contact with all the teams scattered throughout II CTZ.

First Lieutenant Jack Daniel of Russellville, Ky., 4th Platoon leader, remarks, “The mission of this LRP company is to find the enemy’s main routes of supply, bivouac and troop concentration sites, to report their exact location and to leave the area undetected in order to continue the mission. Normally a mission lasts several days, but in case of heavy contact with an enemy force, the teams in the field can be extracted at any time.”

In addition, the company has the capacity to operate as a platoon-size force and conduct regular recon-in-force missions. Several members are presently teaching the techniques of long range patrolling to selected volunteers from the Army of the Republic of Vietnam’s 22d Division at Bong Son and the 23d Division at Ban Me Thuot.

To date, Company E (LRP), 20th Infantry, Airborne has supported U.S. units such as the 1st Air Cavalry Division, the 173rd Airborne Brigade (Sep), the 4th Infantry Division, the 101st Airborne Division and the 5th Special Forces Group, Airborne throughout the II Corps area.

Good intelligence is a most decisive factor in an armed conflict, and through its outstanding fighting record, Company E (LRP), 20th Infantry, Airborne, can be proud of its contribution in blunting the edge of Communist aggression.

The team leader radios a situation report (SITREP) to the battalion TOC. A SITREP is transmitted three times daily to indicate the team’s position and latest observations.
Gentlemen, Family and Friends,

Thursday, October 5th – Tuesday, October 10th
Best Western Hotel, 780 Armed Forces Dr.
Green Bay, WI 543041
(920) 499-3161

The wait is nearly over for the long awaited 2023 Green Bay “Leaving Our Legacy” Reunion. The reunion will mark our thirtieth anniversary since a few good men took the time to locate their comrades-in-arms and held the first reunion in Baltimore, MD.

There will be a few changes to our normal reunions. For one thing the reunion will start on Thursday and continue until Tuesday instead of Sunday through Saturday. The reason for this is to make it easier to travel at a less crowded time, cheaper car rentals and airline tickets. We hope this will allow you to invite more family and friends with you to witness the camaraderie we have shared over more than 50 years.

Dan Stouffer and his son-in-law, Joe Moehle, have planned a few special surprises for us, and I think you will be pleased with them. I will have more about the surprises later.

The legacy of the 9th Division LRRPs/Rangers is a proud one. From the first mission in the jungles of Vietnam in 1967 to the last mission in the Mekong Delta in 1970, E company was highly effective in disrupting the enemy’s supply lines and had a profound psychological impact on the enemy in his own back yard.

The purpose of this “Legacy” reunion is to honor the accomplishments and sacrifices of E company and to never forget those that made the ultimate sacrifice. Please remember to bring your pictures, poems, memorabilia, and stories to share with the group. Also please take the time to put a collage together with a few pictures of you and your team at various times during your tour of duty. You may also want to make a collage of your time after the military to include your family, friends, and hobbies. The tentative schedule for the reunion (but subject to change follows):

It was my privilege along with Tess, Doug MacCallum, Old Sarge Walden (his daughter, Kathy), Dan Stouffer (his son-law, Joe Moehle), Jerry Johnson (his wife, Michelle), Byron Jones (his wife, Dorothy), Roy and Sharon Barley, to honor Hilan Jones at the Fallen Ranger ceremony at Camp Frank Merrill in Dahlonega, Georgia.

The unit members lined up to my left and right at parade rest all wearing the tan shirt and black beret as I read the citation of the mission Jones led part of a 10-man killer team that ambushed over 50 heavily armed NVA. The team came under heavy contact while searching the kill zone. The first rescue chopper could not lift the 10-man team and a POW, so Jones and two others volunteered to stay behind and wait for a second chopper.

While under heavy automatic fire one of the LRRPs was hit in both legs and with Cobra helicopters firing rockets and mini guns, Jones ran to recover the wounded man and carried him to the second chopper. All three men escaped safely.

As I finished reading the citation Tess called the detail to attention and we rendered a respectful, deliberate salute.

Hilan’s family was represented by his son, Seth and his wife, Claudia. The rest of Hilan’s family was able to view the brief ceremony via a telephonic video chat.

The Ceremony was followed by the Critter Cook-Out which this year featured bear, elk, bison, wild boar, and a 60-pound grouper. Many of the ladies brought enough desserts to fill three tables. There were homemade cookies, pies, cakes, doughnuts, cheesecakes, and a variety of fresh fruits. It was really a feast for the eyes.

I have the distinct honor and pleasure to announce that our brother Marshall Huckaby is going to be inducted into the US Army Ranger Hall of Fame on June 22, 2023 at Fort Moore (Benning) Ga. We expect that there will be a large turnout of Company F Brothers and their families to witness this most deserving honor for Marshall Huckaby.

The following is the nomination letter for Marshall’s Induction.

Marshall Huckaby enlisted in the United States Army in 1961 and served upon the USS Dodge County participating in the Cuban Missile Blockade.  Whether we want to admit it or not, we are getting older. As seniors (a code word for “old), we are warned not to fall (when did we fall on purpose?) unless we were jumping out of airplanes, watch what we eat, don’t drink too much (if you were arrested for DWI, that is too much) and get plenty of sleep. Yes, things change as we get older. While I can’t quote studies on this subject, in all honesty, I believe older men (us) tend to ignore changes or warning signs in our health far more than do women. Most women look after their health better than men and thusly, live longer than men. For us older guys, we ignore the dark spot on our foreheads because we don’t want to go to the doctor for some silly spot that appeared or because we have a little blood in our urine or some other silly issue we can just blame on “getting older.” The trick for us is, if we want to continue to get older, we need to pay attention to our bodies and get checked out when things change, especially in a bad way. Shortness of breath is not just a sign of old age, it is a warning sign that something may be wrong, and it is easier to fix early rather than when it has gone too long.

Of course, I have a plan to live forever, and so far, it is working. In order to achieve my goal of living forever, I decided to walk daily and for the past 6-7 years, I have walked 5 miles a day, weather permitting. This satisfies my twisted belief that I can ignore all other exercise needs such as stretching and lifting weights because, walking is easy for me. I have found that I can diagnose orthopedic issues when my hips hurt A LOT! Or if my knees are killing me, I go to a surgeon, and I can get things replaced and start my walking again with some new parts. Granted, after a few weeks of recovery, it is a little difficult to get back to 5 miles a day, but with some determination, I can overcome being out of shape eventually.

The real problem as a man is ignoring other issues and not getting checked out. So, when my legs start really hurting when I am on my walk, or, when I realize that I am short of breath when a month ago, I wasn’t, I simply ignore it. After all, I have an appointment with my primary care physician in a couple of months and I can always discuss these issues when I see him. The pain in my chest is not that bad……until that day that it really is. So, as a formally certified EMT, and someone who has dealt with trauma for years, I come to the realization that I have been ignoring the blatant warning signs for months and that something is amiss. I can recognize trauma and know what to do, however, I can’t diagnose the internal workings of my body. So, I call my wife (a retired research nurse) and ask her to take me to the hospital because I believe I am having a heart attack. Of course, since this is not a joint pain issue, my self-diagnosis is wrong. Thankfully, I am not having a cardio issue; I just have a chest full of blood clots. Damn! I should have paid attention to all those warning signs for the past 3 months. Fortunately, after a few days in the hospital and some good meds, I am back to walking each day.

The moral of this story is, guys, don’t ignore physical changes in your body. Pay attention to your body and get things checked out. Listen to your better half and go to the doctor for a check-up. Paying attention to your health now will make it more likely you can attend and enjoy some of our upcoming reunions.

For those of you who are members of the Ranger Regiment Association, and particularly those of you who are on the west coast, the RRA reunion will be associated with the Second Ranger Battalion this year.

The 2023 75th RRA Reunion will be held in Olympia Washington this year, hosted by the 2nd Battalion 75th Ranger Regiment. Dates are June 26-July 1, 2023 at the Olympia Hotel at Capitol Lake, 2300 Evergreen Park Drive SE, Olympia, Washington, 98502. Last date for reunion guaranteed rates is 6/12/2023. Ph.# for calling hotel direct: 800-206-9939. You can also book your reservations from the 75th RRA website by clicking on the Reunion Info link. There is also a daily schedule of events. Wednesday, 6/28 will have a live fire hands-on time at the range to fire current day weapons. There will also be different vehicles and tools of the trade used in today’s Ranger world. This is a great opportunity for you west coasters to attend a reunion. They have always been held at Ft Benning, but a decision was made last year, with the input of Unit Directors to move the Reunion around. If you are interested in attending, go to the website and sign up. If you have any problems, let me know and I will try and help.

The Association has recently hired a new, talented webmaster to produce and run the website. If you have any problems, let me know and I will pass it on. This is a work in progress. 75thRRA.org

On the topic of reunions, our next E-51/G75th event will be:

The Grand Smokies Resort Lodge

September 6th-10th 2023 Pigeon Forge, Tennessee. There will be more information as to how to register as we get closer to the event.

I have cautioned our membership several times that our association will cease to exist sometime in our future. I hope that our Board will plan in advance of this inevitable and sad event. We should have a plan that details legally, what will happen to our funds in advance of this unwelcome event.

No one is looking forward to our organizational demise, but it is certainly on the horizon. Our membership is dying out, all now in our 70’s or 80’s. Many are in bad health and can no longer travel. If you are able, don’t miss our last reunion. We never know what year that will be. For me and for most of our members, our reunions are reminders of good and bad times that have made us what we are. Better for the experience. Seeing our brothers and families is another opportunity to thank our comrades for their friendship and in many cases, their leadership and kindness. Vietnam may have been a lost cause politically, but for us, it was an adventure and opportunity to experience friendship and comradeship at a level that circumstances outside war rarely see. A kindship of circumstances of strangers coming together in a like cause to do an honorable thing and build lifelong friendships in the mix of turmoil and hazardous circumstances.

Some of our friends never lived to return. We have a duty to honor, celebrate, and remember them as though they are still with us. Our roll-call of those who gave their all is a fitting way to express this. So, as we grow older and contemplate the days gone by, our fond memories tend to be more important. Our memories may fade and the people and places and who were there when we did...whatever, may lose some accuracy, but the fact that we remember things at all is a blessing. Make your plans to attend our next reunion. Call someone you haven’t heard from in a long while and ask them to attend. Our opportunities to share old friendships are diminishing with every passing year.

I would like to kick off this issue with some info and requests for the Louisville reunion. Hopefully if you’re reading this it’s not too late. Doug Parkinson is trying to finalize a list of those who will be attending, whether or not you are bringing a spouse or significant other – and finally if you will be going on the dinner cruise which will happen on Thursday night the 15th. If you haven’t been in touch with Doug, please call him. I’ve sent his phone number on an “all Company” email – if you did not get that please get in touch with me and I’ll fix that situation. Also, according to Bob Raab – the Company meeting will be EARLY Friday morning followed by the lunch-eon.

This issue’s article will honor Bill Critchfield. William R. Critchfield was born on February 6, 1947. His home of record is Maple Shade, NJ. William graduated from Merchantville High School in 1966. In school, he is remembered as kind and unassuming. Bill was the oldest of six. He had three brothers and two sisters. His high school yearbook entry: Bill’s happy-go-lucky and cheerful personality will help him to make many friends in the future just as he has at M.H.S. He spends much of his spare time relaxing in the outdoors, hunting, fishing, or surfing. His plans for the future include further education. Bill was killed in action on December 27, 1967.

The remainder of this article covers Bill’s last mission. Spent quite a bit of time on the phone with Dean Lindstrom, Bill’s cousin, who wrote the article I’m highlighting here with the help of Paul Hart a lift pilot for the 1/9th, with input from Rangers Bob Carr, Bill Carpenter, Doc Gilchrest, Earl McCann and Pat Blewett. Also spent time on the phone with Pat Blewett, the only remaining member of that Team to get a firsthand account of the mission only to find out later that there was already an article in the Lebrun/Carpenter Historical Occurrences book. Regardless, it was a costly mission for E/52nd/H75th – but demonstrated the bond and level of cooperation between our Teams and the 1/9th support.

1967 was a watershed year for the War in Vietnam. The number of US troops increased from 435,000 at the end of 1966, to 500,000 in 1967. Although public opinion regarding the war had been waning, Middle America and the media were tiring but still generally supportive of the war effort. By late 1967, after a series of border battles initiated by the PAVN (People’s Army of Vietnam) including Loc Ninh, Song Be, and Dak To, the war had reached a turning point and officers at MACV began to see some ‘light at the end of the tunnel’. US attrition objectives were being achieved: Vietcong and NVA units were apparently losing more forces in South Vietnam than could be replaced through recruitment or infiltration. Policymakers in Hanoi also came to the conclusion that the war was stalemated and that battlefield trends were not in their favor. By December 1967, major operations throughout Vietnam had ceased and the war became a series of small unit clashes. Although it was generally not understood at the time, VC and NVA units were preparing for two major initiatives and moving men and materiel throughout the Central Highlands: The Siege at Khe Sanh would begin on the 21st of January 1968, and the Tet Offensive on Jan 30.

On Dec 26, 1967, SP-4 Bill Critchfield returned from a mission with a team lead by Bob Carr. Carr’s Team was on the ground in an area known as the Crow’s Foot which was located in the Kim Son Valley in the Vinh Thanh Mountains. Bill volunteered to join another mission scheduled for the next day on a Team led by Sgt. Joe “Montana” Haverland. For this mission, Bill was the Assistant Team Lead (ATL) joining Pat Blewett (RTO), Don Van Hook, and two South Vietnamese scouts Qui and Phi. The team lifted off from LZ Uplift the following morning for a first light insertion in the Suoi Ca Valley which was located 20 miles south of Bong Son in the Binh Dinh Province and named for the Suoi Ca stream that flows through the valley.

The valley itself is approximately 20 kilometers long on a north/south axis that roughly parallels Highway 1. Highway 1 was notoriously known since the French occupation as “La Rue Sans Joie” – The Street Without Joy which was bordered by Binh Khe to the west, Phu My to the northeast, and Phu Cat to the southwest. After a successful insertion, the team made their way to their first rendezvous point. After laying dog for 30 minutes, the Team began to recon the mountainside and deep ravines in the valley located in an area with heavy triple canopy jungle. The day wore on without incident. At approximately 5:00 pm, the team located and established an NDP on the side of a hill with a 20-degree incline and in an area surrounded by thick jungle and notably trees.

The trees afforded Montana the ability to climb and view the valley floor. Montana had become famous for climbing trees to get a better view of the immediate AO. After identifying the NDP, The team set out trip flares but held off setting out claymores. The VC and NVA were known to sneak up on positions and turn the claymores around on the team. The claymores would be deployed as night fell, placing a pin-release hand grenade under the claymore as a booby-trap detonating the claymore if it were disturbed. The team settled in and began preparing dinner.

On most missions, the team ate freeze-dried LRP rations – because standard C-rations were too heavy to pack in. On this mission, the team had also brought in the meat portions from some C-rations. As they started to prepare the meat, Phi and Qui went out into the jungle and brought back a number of plants and chopped them up and made a delicious stew that was heated using a small piece of C4 explosive lit on fire in a small hole in the ground. C4 burned hot and fast and was fairly smokeless and was often used to heat rations in the field.

At around 5:30, as the team was just getting ready to eat dinner, Montana whispered down to the team, “Gook.” A moment later, “Another one.” Several moments later he said “Shit. They’re all over the place.” It was later determined that an NVA anti-aircraft battalion consisting of 1,500 – 2,000 North Vietnamese Regulars were moving down the valley floor, hugging the edge of the tree line nearest the team’s position. RTO, Pat Blewett connected with Redleg and called in an artillery strike targeting the large force. As the artillery shells landed, Pat called in the coordinates, walking the artillery up the hill toward the team’s position. Normally, an enemy force attempting to evade artillery fire would move in a different direction than the direction the artillery was being walked, but for some reason the main NVA force evaded directly up the hill directly toward the Team.

Montana, still in the tree, called out “Let’s get the hell out of here.” The E&E plan called for the team to split up into two groups (Pat, Bill, and Phi) and (Montana, Van Hook, and Qui). The groups would move in opposite directions around the hill and rendezvous in the valley on the other side. Bill and Phi were squatting on the ground in a defensive firing position to the left of Pat, packs on, ready to move. AT that point one of the NVA soldiers threw a satchel charge and simultaneously sprayed the area with automatic weapon fire as it detonated. The charge landed several feet immediately in front of Bill and Phi. Pat had just pulled on his pack and was turning to say “Let’s move” when he saw a bright orange flash. He pulled the emergency release on his pack and kicked his legs out, landing prone on the ground as the satchel charge exploded. After the blast, Pat opened his eyes and looked to his left to discover Bill and Phi in a heap. The explosion blew a hole in Pat’s calf and shredded his backpack, which had not come off – most likely saving his life. The explosion also blew off Qui’s heel and blew Montana completely out of the tree, injuring his back. Only Van Hook managed to escape serious injury.

Pat and Van Hook immediately went to Bill and Phi who were unconscious and attempted to administer first-aid. At the time LRRPs carried a med kit including cans of blood extenders (serum albumin). Unfortunately, the med kit had been in Pat’s backpack and was destroyed in the blast. Van Hook found a damaged can of serum albumin but sliced his hand open while attempting to open it.

Meanwhile, NVA soldiers were still attacking the position while evading artillery. As Van Hook helped Montana and Qui, into defensive firing positions, Pat had radioed in the initial distress call with a request for reinforcements and immediate evacuation. A 30-man Quick Reaction Force (QRF) the “Blue’s”, and “Red” team gunships from the 1/9th Cav were scrambled out of LZ Two-Bits near Bong Son. The 1/9th lift birds headed south into the mountains and valleys of the coastal plain toward Suoi Ca to insert the Blue platoon, secure the area, and extract the LRRP team.

In a 2006 email to Dean Lindstrom, Paul Hart - the lead lift pilot described the following account of the extraction: despite the darkness of night along with the mountainous terrain our gunships were able to designate a landing zone (LZ) as close as possible to the team and we proceeded to air assault our Blues into that area. As we circled above the valley floor, we could see our units in contact by the abundance of tracers. During this “holding” period we had some airborne discussion regarding the extraction and medvac of the team, as well as our own Blues. The LRRP team had managed to set up defensive firing positions and in the darkness. Back on the ground Pat Blewett indicated that suddenly something set off one of our trip flares and Van Hook spun around ready to engage the area with his weapon on full-auto - but Blewett stopped him and got on the radio, ‘Blue, if you tripped that flare, tell me now.’

After receiving an affirmative reply, Blewett informed the Blues that they were going across the mountain above the Team and that he would send a man up to meet them. Don’t shoot. Van Hook went up to the Blues to lead them to the Team and get everyone ready for extraction. Everyone, except Van Hook and Blewett, were put on ponchos and carried out. Van Hook was able to walk on his own and Blewett walked up the hill with two M-16’s for crutches - one for each shoulder. Van Hook and Blewett located and dusted one gook hiding in the bushes on the way up.”

Paul Hart continued: “I accepted responsibility for the extraction and medivac when we got the call. The other three lift birds would add the additional Blue platoon troopers that would be left on the ground. While the area was still “hot”, we received a call from our Blues telling us that they had linked up with the LRRP team and needed immediate medivac. That was my call to go. I went into a makeshift LZ in the direction of our Blues and under cover of our gunships. At this point, the adrenaline rush sets in and as a pilot you’re concentrating on the job at hand. In this case it was landing in the dark, in a hot LZ, getting the team on board, getting out of the LZ and to the nearest medical facility. In the few frantic and hurried minutes, it took to land and load, I was able to glance around as the team was helped or placed aboard by our Blues. Some seemed to be conscious, others not. My crew chief yelled “flights up” and we were gone. Fortunately, there was an aid station a short flight away. We were there and on the ground and met by waiting medical personnel within minutes. After everyone was unloaded, we departed the area and returned to our base camp. As the Aircraft Commander (A/C) that evening, I was recommended for and received the Distinguished Flying Cross (DFC). Something that I continue to display and take pride in— not because it came from an act of war, but more from an act of humanity - one soldier helping another - what more can be asked.” Upon arrival at the med station at LZ Uplift, it was determined that both Bill and Phi had died from their injuries, most likely immediately. Both had multiple bullet wounds in the chest and extensive damage to the lower body from the satchel charge explosion. In all likelihood, neither Bill nor Phi knew or felt anything before they died. “Montana” Joe Haverland suffered back injuries and later returned to LZ Uplift for a few missions. He transferred to the 1/9 Blues until his return to the United States. Joe died in a car accident several years later when his car went off a cliff – Many suggest that Joe, never really recovered from this experience and the accident was a result of excess drinking. Pat Blewett spent several weeks in a hospital and returned to LZ Uplift to continue with the LRRPs.

If you haven’t been to a reunion in a while – please think about joining in Louisville – history suggests there will be a great turnout – and we’re not getting any younger. Look forward to seeing you there!

For those who have fought for it – life has a flavor the protected will never know!

The month of May was fast and furious starting with our Reunion in Punta Gorda, Florida and the OCS Hall of Fame Ceremonies conducted at Ft. Benning/Moore. The month will end with Memorial Day events, and we shall take a few minutes to reflect on all our fallen brothers from the Combat Battlefield to the Social Battlefield that fought the good fight for our families, our friends, and our Country.

This edition will be mostly captured in photos as the Unit Director responsible for news articles for our members has been busy day and night with activities on the East coast.

The reunion was hosted by Gary Hund and his bride, Wendy. Well attended by the Rangers and their wives and their “Descendants”. The first day included a tour of the Military History Museum followed by a visit to “Fisherman’s Village” for lunch. That evening entertainment was provided in the hospitality room by David Hunter. The next morning started early as they were off to the “Fleamaster” market, then visited the Peace River Wildlife Center, ending with fun in the sun and dinner at Gary and Wendy’s home. The last day allowed for breakfast at their leisure leaving for the “Shell Factory” at 1100. The evening started with a cocktail hour and dinner. A great time had by all, planning for next year is underway in Colorado.

Returning to Ft Benning a week before the name change to Ft. Moore was a moving experience. The induction ceremony took place on May 1, 2023 and I was in the company of family members (my brother Daniel Christian, former US Army Engineer and today a Disabled Veteran from Military Service) and Son in Law Sean Schafer. We were in the company of heroes being inducted. It is important to note that the Valorous Service Inductees were mostly KIA’s from Vietnam.

Also, it is important to note that Daniel was 10 years old when he delivered my first salute and he was emotionally moved to return 50 years later to wear my OCS cap and deliver me a salute after being inducted into the Officers Hall of Fame for Valorous Combat Service.

There is a Hall of Fame walk that shows the units served in Combat and F/52 LRRP is enshrined with etching on a black granite slate. The new inductee display of inductees into OCS Hall of Fame stands across from the Ranger Hall of Fame display in the Infantry Museum.
NEW CHALLENGE COINS
@ 75THRRRA.ORG
In the spirit of our latest reunion, I would like to open this article with a quote from Act IV in William Shakespeare’s masterpiece “Henry V.” On the morning of the critical Battle of Agincourt and with the fate of his country on the line, the English king (Henry) urges his vastly outnumbered men to overcome the odds with a stirring speech ending with these famous words—“We few, we happy few, we Band of Brothers; for he today that sheds his blood with me shall be my brother.” Without getting overly dramatic, I would like to say that this quote-for-the-ages describes exactly what the men of our Ranger company have become after all these years. And there’s no doubt about it.

So here we were at the “L” Company Rangers reunion in Scott, Louisiana, and I must say that it ranks with the best of all our reunions, if not the best. Ranger Bobby Badeaux must be especially commended for organizing the event, but being the modest fellow he is, he was the first to point out that he had plenty of help from his family, friends, and the entire community. Southern hospitality was on full display from day one and I’ve never seen a more friendly group of local people who were entirely appreciative of our service to this country. We were treated like family everywhere we went and with a graciousness rarely found in any other part of this great land of ours. I will recap the events of this get-together and they were many as well as they were memorable. But first, I will take this opportunity to thank the Mayor of Scott, Jan-Scott Richard and his fellow council members including Doyle Boudreaux and Blaine Roy, for the warm welcome they extended to all the Rangers and their family members. This sincere gesture of thanks was something that’s been entirely missing for many years and, from the looks on the faces of the men of the Rangers of “L” Company and their guests, it was highly appreciated.

For those of you unfamiliar with the town of Scott, Louisiana, it is located just outside of Lafayette and is about two hours west of New Orleans. It is an easy and leisurely drive on the I-10 (west) from there or Baton Rouge. Ranger host Bobby Badeaux had an airport shuttle bus picking up all those attendees who arrived via plane at Lafayette’s airport on Thursday and the festivities began with registration at the Hospitality Room at the local Holiday Inn. There was a full buffet of pizza, wraps and wings for lunch and later, a Reception/Dinner with Zea Rotisserie and (of course) a full bar. Friday’s Swamp Tour was cancelled due to inclement weather, but everyone found plenty to do in and around the town of Scott which is very scenic and also bills itself as the “Boudin” capital of the world (Boudin being a specialty pork dish favored by Louisianans). And speaking of Boudin, lunch at the hospitality room on Friday included Jambalaya and Boudin and was sponsored by Travis Guidry, brother of former New York Yankees ace, Ron Guidry, and his Heart of Hospice foundation.

Later in the afternoon, the group photo sessions began with everyone wearing the new tan logo shirts and caps. Wives and daughters were given “Rangerette” shirts which they all wore proudly. This was followed by the “Mayor’s Reception” at City Hall with every Ranger receiving an honorary citizen’s certificate along with a photo op with the mayor and his councilmen. The ceremony ended with retired Colonel Jim Montano giving a heartfelt and emotional speech in which he made it a point to mention our Rangers brothers who gave the full measure of devotion in the line of duty. His remembrance of them defined the moment for all in attendance. He ended it with a stirring and rousing “Rangers Lead the Way!”

A short walk over to the Knights of Columbus building was followed by a sit-down dinner featuring a rather tasty fish fry which everyone seemed to enjoy. I say that because everyone I noticed had second and third helpings before they departed the premises. On Saturday, a Rangers/Veterans only breakfast was served at the local Cajun Harley Davidson shop only a few hundred meters from our hotel. The breakfast food at the Holiday Inn was certainly fine (and free), but this was a welcome change for the attendees.

While this was occurring, a huge hog was being barbecued in the back of the hotel. We were served up for lunch at 12:00 PM at the hospitality room along with an assortment of other Cajun cuisine.

The grand finale for this feast-fest was a Crawfish Boil Dinner at the Begnaud House in Scott which also featured live entertainment provided by Charles Fox, the local Zydeco player, and an excellent rock band called “Loose Change.” Everyone was soon on the floor and dancing the night away. As they say, a good time was had by all.

The attendees at the reunion were as follows: Bobby Badeaux and his wife Cathy, Chuck Rupe and his wife Kelly, Ronnie Edwards and his wife Julie, Danny Dominguez and his wife Vivian, Jim Kwasniewski and his wife Pauline, Randy Kirkpatrick and his wife Angel, Timothy DeBey and his wife Juanita, Dave “Muldoon” Rothwell and his fiancé Cindy, Roy Aguero and his wife Diana, ret. Colonel Jim Montano and his wife Jessica, Larry Ackley and his wife Nancy, Wayne Hartman and his wife Melinda, James “Sky” King, Adam Macias, John Perez, Manley Dakin, the late Sgt. Harold Kaima’s wife Irene and her daughter Kellie, Joe Caligiure, Michael Doran, Grady Thibodeaux, ret. Major Fred Karnes, Ron “Mother” Rucker, Ron “Fido” Vodden, honorary Ranger Fred Behrens, Al Parada and his wife Sabrina, Marvin Duren and his son Wes, Herb Owens, Jimmy Sheppard, Ken “Pugsley” Hardy and his wife Deb, yours truly and my wife Ilene, Mike Berg and his family members Alex, Ben and John Berg. U.S. Marine veteran Mike Carroll, David McLaughlin (son of Ranger Jim McLaughlin) and his son Ryan, and finally, from the 2/502nd of the 101st ABN who supported our Ranger company during the fight on Hill 809, John Cluett and Roney Guilbeau. I would be remiss in my duties if I did not mention all the volunteers who made this reunion a special one. They are Ron and Bonnie Guidry, Bobby and Debby Guidry, Travis Guidry, Ken and Paula Begnaud, David Meche, Charles Fox and the mayor of Scott, Jan-Scott Richard and his fellow councilmen, Doyle Boudreaux and Blaine Roy. I would also like to thank David McLaughlin for designing and building the impressive U.S. flag and Ranger plaque used for our group pictures. He certainly put in a lot of effort and craftsmanship for these items.

I have included a number of photos from the reunion. First and foremost is a group picture of all the Rangers in attendance. There is also a picture of the Rangers who received the Purple Heart during their time with the company. Next up, the fabulous Rangerettes. This is certainly the largest number of wives that has ever showed up for one of our reunions, and it was great to see. There is also a picture of Ranger Bobby Badeaux with his great friend and neighbor, Ron Guidry. Mr. Guidry, as well as his family members, were a welcome addition to all the festivities. The former Yankee great shared numerous stories about his time in New York with players like Reggie Jackson, Goose Gossage, Thurman Munson etc. There is also a photo of Ron “Fido” Vodden and Steve Barr and a photo of Dave “Muldoon” Rothwell and his fiancé Cindy. The last photo I have included is one of Bobby Badeaux and his entire family from Scott. They all participated in the reunion, including his grandkids, and were a welcomed presence throughout the entire occasion. There were two Rangers from our previous reunion in Moline (2021) who have passed away since that event (Randy White and Louis Distretti) and they were fondly remembered by their Ranger brothers. Both men regularly attended reunions through the years and will be sorely missed. Randy was instrumental in preserving the records of our company which have been proven invaluable for our new web site, among other things. Illness also forced Dave Quigley to miss this year’s gathering. I sincerely hope he’s on the way to a full recovery. Billy “Steamboat” Nix was also scheduled to be in Louisiana for the reunion, but an emergency family illness prevented him from joining the festivities. Likewise, Ken Wells was unable to make it.

Overall, it was a great reunion and everyone who attended was happy they made it to Bayou country. As for myself, it was my first trip to Louisiana, and I am sure to return. Southern Hospitality is certainly no myth, and it is an enduring spirit as well as an integral part of this nation’s character. One last thing…in reference to my opening paragraph, King Henry V and his “Band of Brothers” prevailed in the decisive Battle of Agincourt. I guess his speech worked.

That’s it for now. As I sign off, I hope all of you enjoy the upcoming summer months and keep in touch with your Brothers-in-Arms. As always: RANGERS LEAD THE WAY!!
Press Release:

Sgt Jarod Roubideaux Becomes Third Generation Ranger.

On Friday, April 28, 2023, Sergeant Jarod Roubideaux, a Rosebud Sioux Tribal member, and Rapid City local, graduated from U.S. Army Ranger School at Fort Benning, Georgia, receiving his U.S. Army Ranger tab. By doing so, Sgt Roubideaux became a third generation Ranger, along with his father Tome L. Roubideaux, who served in Vietnam (15 BDE 101st Abn Div. LRRP, 173rd LRRP Pltn, N/75th Inf Ranger), and his grandfather, Eugene Roubideaux, who served in World War II as a 1st Battalion Darby Ranger (N. Africa, Sicily, Salerno, Anzio and severely wounded on D-Day). All three generations of Roubideaux Rangers are (were) enrolled members of the Rosebud Sioux Tribe.

Sgt. Roubideaux, age 26, completed the rigorous Army Ranger school which has an approximate pass rate of only 20% per class. Roubideaux is pictured (above photo) at the U.S. Army Ranger Memorial at Fort Benning and is pointing to his father’s Ranger dedication brick. Continued on the next page

Despite the fact that we were going to DC to bury our former leader Terry Roderick on Monday May 15th at Arlington National Cemetery, it was a great week. I had never before visited Washington DC but had long wanted an opportunity to visit and be a part of the city and to better understand DC as a whole and to pay homage to the monuments of great persons who preceded me. I had my chance, and I left the city a better person as a result of my efforts. I was overwhelmed by Arlington and all the implications involved with being interred there. My wife Marie had visited the cemetery prior and had expressed her approval and encouraged me to go through the process which would allow me to be buried there. I didn’t get it until I visited Arlington myself and realized that I would be resting among my peers and fellow soldiers and American Warriors with whom I had a clear bond with. As we get older it is sometimes difficult to imagine and then prioritize the needs of preplanning for the future with an emphasize on the forever. I got a real sense of urgency after driving the grounds and experiencing the tempo of Arlington. I am going to apply now to see if I can get into Arlington when my time comes.

We left Jackson MS at 0200 on Wednesday and drove straight through to DC taking about 17 hours to do so. Ok, we stopped at Buckees and that took an hour and then we stopped to eat which took another, then we lost an hour going east but overall, we made it in good time. Coming home, however, we stayed on the road, ate in the car, and gained an hour going west and made it home in 14 hours flat. I cannot tell you how happy I was to sleep on my own bed again.

While in DC, on Thursday the 11th, we visited the 50th Anniversary celebration of the Vietnam War and enjoyed all they had to offer. We were with Gary and Maria Norton and Sheryl and Dave Gates which made the group small enough to enjoy and still be flexible enough with the schedule, so we were able to go through all the booths that we were interested in and still visit the Wall which I saw for the first time. I have seen the mobile wall, but it does not do justice to the original and I was deeply moved by the Statuary of the three men and the nurses portrayed for the public. I was honored to still be a living veteran of the Vietnam War and to be able to say with great emphasis that although we may not have been a member of the greatest generation, we were the greatest of our generation. Nuf Said.

The 50th Anniversary of the Vietnam War was a nice thing to do. It appeared to me however while walking through the booths and meeting areas, that it was not so much intended to help us, the Viet Nam Veteran as it was an effort to do something to assuage the feelings of those who did not participate in the war and most certainly not for those of us who are still alive and will not be here for the 100th. We, the Vietnam Veterans are dying by the day, and I do not expect that a year will ever go by that we don’t lose somebody who we were close to. That is the reason we as a group get together as often as possible to celebrate our lives and to remember who and what we once were. I watched as our brothers boarded the vehicles and was astonished by the pains we all are experiencing as a result of being older than last time. The little things that we took for granted just a few years ago are now a barrier to our daily goings on. I find it difficult to put on socks and clip my toenails. I wish I could say that it was going to be better but it’s not. This is the reason why I think it important to stay in touch with each other and to get together as often as possible.

The rest of the reunion was as pleasant as could be imagined. We ate well consuming Bison on Thursday, Sandwiches on Friday, and Mexican on Saturday. Thank you, Tom Jones, for setting up all the dinners for both Friday and Saturday nights which we all enjoyed. We all also enjoyed being in our nation’s capital and the freedom to explore and experience the vast array of memorials and sites as time allowed and we were motivated to explore. We were busy all day long exploring on our own but got together in the evening for good food and fellowship. That’s how it should be.

Sunday, May 14, 2023

It was a busy day when we all expected to be affected by the reason for coming to DC. A small group of us had gone to the VFW where our party was going to happen the night before and had it all set up for the group. Terry’s daughters Cindy and Brandon as well as Sheryl, Lauren, Jim, and Melissa helped set up the room at the VFW the night before, so we were in good shape when we arrived at the venue to get ready for our party.

We were all as a group ready to go to the Vietnam Wall at 1030 and when we arrived at 1100, we took photographs to document the event and for our memories and posterity. It was a beautiful day, not too hot yet and a offered a great opportunity to get all involved and in sync with the realities of why we were in DC. We had the family and friends right there for photos and to experience the wall and all it exudes but the solemn sentiments of the occasion were accented by the arrival of a group of bagpipers who played for us resulting in many a wet eye. They played magnificently and we were grateful for their presence.

As soon as we left the Wall and returned to the Hotel, we got ready to go to the VFW and the memorial party. The VFW was rustic and a little over the hill but then so were we. The ladies and friends of Terry’s family set up a great spread of food and goodies and we all settled in to enjoy each other’s comradery and to mark the solemn occasion. As the afternoon went by, I was struck by the thought that the mention of Terry made everybody smile and made the remark that whenever in the future I think of Terry, I would always smile, and that was as good a legacy as anyone could ask. The kindness and friendships shown all afternoon were best expressed by those who got up in front of the group and talked about their relationship with Terry.

On Monday we all got up and readied ourselves for the service at Arlington. We arrived early as requested and visited among ourselves until our time came to proceed to the location of the plot. It was absolutely beautiful outside and we all proceeded to the covered area provided for the occasion. The Army Chaplain gave a well-prepared summary of Terry’s life and reminded us of his good and not so good life. There was not a dry eye in the crowd, but I noticed a loud airplane flying over the cemetery and looked up to see a F35 fighter heading quickly to somewhere else, but for me it was a flyover just for Terry. He would have loved it. As soon as the service was over, we said our last goodbyes to those of us leaving for home and along with them came the decision to have another reunion next year to get back in sync with the Ranger Rendezvous as in years past. More on that as the months go by.

As I have said before, we are not getting any younger and we need to enjoy each other’s company as often as we can, and I will try to find a special, new place for us to meet in 2024. If you weren’t in DC, then you just missed a wonderful opportunity to visit with your brothers, please do your best not to miss the next reunion.
